

REMOVAL OF THE INDIAN PRISONERS. Gen. Kihbe has entered into a contract, on behalf of the Indian Superintendent for California, with Capt. Woodley, of the Bark Fanny Major, for the removal of his prisoners to the Mendocino Reservation. On this vessel the Indians can be made comfortable, which object the Gen. had in view, otherwise they would have been sent on the tug Mary Ann. The steamer Glide will bring them down this afternoon, and transfer them to the Fanny Major.

THE HUMBOLDT TIMES.

VOL. 5.

EUREKA, CALIFORNIA, SATURDAY, JANUARY 22, 1859.

NO. 22.

AN INDEPENDENT NEWS-PAVER.

PUBLISHED EVERY SATURDAY MORNING, BY A. A. WHEAT, Corner of 2nd and Second Sts., Eureka.

TERMS.

Subscriptions.—In advance, for one year, $5; for six months; for a less time, one dollar per month.
Advertisements.—One square, (ten lines or less) first time, $1.00; each subsequent insertion, 50 cents. For longer notices, rates will be made on application. All advertisements must be paid for in advance, unless otherwise specified. If altered, twice the rate will be charged for each alteration. If not published, the advertiser is responsible for the loss of publication.
Double prices will be charged for special notices.
Legal advertisements.—Administrators' notices and advertisements, required by law to be published, will be inserted at the rate of one dollar per line, unless otherwise specified.

ATLANTIC NEWS.

The Steamship Golden Gate arrived in San Francisco on the 13th inst., bringing dates from New York to Dec. 20, and N. O. to Dec. 26th.

The news is unimportant, as will be seen from the following summary:
The W. Jones (Interchange Case).—The House of Representatives by a vote of 91 to 111, refused to institute an impeachment against Judge Watrous, of Texas. Many members who entertained strong suspicions of corruption yet voted against impeachment, as they regarded the evidence as insufficient to justify any hope of conviction by the Senate.
Judge Watrous. It is rumored, will resign immediately. While the vote was being taken the scene in the Hall was impressive. Many Senators were cramped in the lobby, anxiously noting each vote as the roll was called.
President's Commission on Foreign Affairs.—The President, on the 15th, comminuted to the House of Representatives the information called for by Mr. Clay's resolution. The communication is in the form of a letter, and is signed by the Secretary of State, Mr. Adams. It is a long and able paper, and is full of interesting facts, and is a valuable contribution to the public mind. It is a valuable contribution to the public mind. It is a valuable contribution to the public mind.

ORIGIN OF PAUL AND VIRGINIA.

Who has not been a child and felt the eye motion over the trials of those beautiful creations. The name of Paul and Virginia is so familiar to us that we do not think of its origin. It is a story of a young man and woman who were separated by a storm, and who were reunited after a long and perilous journey. The story is so touching and so full of interest that it has become a classic. The origin of the story is a matter of some interest. It is said that the story was first published in a French magazine in 1789. The author's name was Paul and Virginia. The story was so popular that it was translated into many languages. It is now a classic and is read by all.

THE OREGON BILL.

According to the dispatch of one Washington correspondent, believing that a compromise exists whose object is to defeat the Oregon bill. The Senate, in executive session, has refused the nomination for Postmaster, with the exception of those in Ohio. The Oregon Bill.—According to the dispatch of one Washington correspondent, believing that a compromise exists whose object is to defeat the Oregon bill. The Senate, in executive session, has refused the nomination for Postmaster, with the exception of those in Ohio.

THE OREGON BILL.

According to the dispatch of one Washington correspondent, believing that a compromise exists whose object is to defeat the Oregon bill. The Senate, in executive session, has refused the nomination for Postmaster, with the exception of those in Ohio. The Oregon Bill.—According to the dispatch of one Washington correspondent, believing that a compromise exists whose object is to defeat the Oregon bill. The Senate, in executive session, has refused the nomination for Postmaster, with the exception of those in Ohio.

THE OREGON BILL.

According to the dispatch of one Washington correspondent, believing that a compromise exists whose object is to defeat the Oregon bill. The Senate, in executive session, has refused the nomination for Postmaster, with the exception of those in Ohio. The Oregon Bill.—According to the dispatch of one Washington correspondent, believing that a compromise exists whose object is to defeat the Oregon bill. The Senate, in executive session, has refused the nomination for Postmaster, with the exception of those in Ohio.

THE ATLANTIC CABLE.

Letters from Valencia report that no improvement had taken place in the electrical condition of the Atlantic Cable. The fault, however, did not seem to be of a serious nature, and it was hoped that the cable would be repaired in a short time. Mr. Huxley's opinion was that the cable was in a state of such a nature that it would be repaired in a short time. Mr. Huxley's opinion was that the cable was in a state of such a nature that it would be repaired in a short time.

THE ATLANTIC CABLE.

Letters from Valencia report that no improvement had taken place in the electrical condition of the Atlantic Cable. The fault, however, did not seem to be of a serious nature, and it was hoped that the cable would be repaired in a short time. Mr. Huxley's opinion was that the cable was in a state of such a nature that it would be repaired in a short time.

THE ATLANTIC CABLE.

Letters from Valencia report that no improvement had taken place in the electrical condition of the Atlantic Cable. The fault, however, did not seem to be of a serious nature, and it was hoped that the cable would be repaired in a short time. Mr. Huxley's opinion was that the cable was in a state of such a nature that it would be repaired in a short time.

THE ATLANTIC CABLE.

Letters from Valencia report that no improvement had taken place in the electrical condition of the Atlantic Cable. The fault, however, did not seem to be of a serious nature, and it was hoped that the cable would be repaired in a short time. Mr. Huxley's opinion was that the cable was in a state of such a nature that it would be repaired in a short time.

THE ATLANTIC CABLE.

Letters from Valencia report that no improvement had taken place in the electrical condition of the Atlantic Cable. The fault, however, did not seem to be of a serious nature, and it was hoped that the cable would be repaired in a short time. Mr. Huxley's opinion was that the cable was in a state of such a nature that it would be repaired in a short time.

Letters from Valencia report that no improvement had taken place in the electrical condition of the Atlantic Cable. The fault, however, did not seem to be of a serious nature, and it was hoped that the cable would be repaired in a short time. Mr. Huxley's opinion was that the cable was in a state of such a nature that it would be repaired in a short time.

Letters from Valencia report that no improvement had taken place in the electrical condition of the Atlantic Cable. The fault, however, did not seem to be of a serious nature, and it was hoped that the cable would be repaired in a short time. Mr. Huxley's opinion was that the cable was in a state of such a nature that it would be repaired in a short time.

Letters from Valencia report that no improvement had taken place in the electrical condition of the Atlantic Cable. The fault, however, did not seem to be of a serious nature, and it was hoped that the cable would be repaired in a short time. Mr. Huxley's opinion was that the cable was in a state of such a nature that it would be repaired in a short time.

Letters from Valencia report that no improvement had taken place in the electrical condition of the Atlantic Cable. The fault, however, did not seem to be of a serious nature, and it was hoped that the cable would be repaired in a short time. Mr. Huxley's opinion was that the cable was in a state of such a nature that it would be repaired in a short time.

Letters from Valencia report that no improvement had taken place in the electrical condition of the Atlantic Cable. The fault, however, did not seem to be of a serious nature, and it was hoped that the cable would be repaired in a short time. Mr. Huxley's opinion was that the cable was in a state of such a nature that it would be repaired in a short time.

Letters from Valencia report that no improvement had taken place in the electrical condition of the Atlantic Cable. The fault, however, did not seem to be of a serious nature, and it was hoped that the cable would be repaired in a short time. Mr. Huxley's opinion was that the cable was in a state of such a nature that it would be repaired in a short time.

Letters from Valencia report that no improvement had taken place in the electrical condition of the Atlantic Cable. The fault, however, did not seem to be of a serious nature, and it was hoped that the cable would be repaired in a short time. Mr. Huxley's opinion was that the cable was in a state of such a nature that it would be repaired in a short time.

Letters from Valencia report that no improvement had taken place in the electrical condition of the Atlantic Cable. The fault, however, did not seem to be of a serious nature, and it was hoped that the cable would be repaired in a short time. Mr. Huxley's opinion was that the cable was in a state of such a nature that it would be repaired in a short time.

Letters from Valencia report that no improvement had taken place in the electrical condition of the Atlantic Cable. The fault, however, did not seem to be of a serious nature, and it was hoped that the cable would be repaired in a short time. Mr. Huxley's opinion was that the cable was in a state of such a nature that it would be repaired in a short time.

Letters from Valencia report that no improvement had taken place in the electrical condition of the Atlantic Cable. The fault, however, did not seem to be of a serious nature, and it was hoped that the cable would be repaired in a short time. Mr. Huxley's opinion was that the cable was in a state of such a nature that it would be repaired in a short time.