

INDIANS IN NEVADA COUNTY.—Since the appointment of Mr. Boyyer, as Sub-agent for the superintendence of the Indians of this county, a very desirable object has been accomplished, in the removal of the more dissolute of their number, whose haunts were in the immediate vicinity of our town, and who interested our citizens to the disgust and annoyance of our citizens. The larger number of the Indians who formerly resided in this county have already been taken to the Reservation at Nomee-Lackee, and the more vicious of those left are now at Newtown, under the immediate charge of Mr. Boyyer, who speaks their language fluently, and has complete control over them. They are now taught to earn their own living by their labour, and are kept under proper restraint. Mr. B. deserves much credit for what he has done.

The following exquisite little poem, published in the Pioneer for December last, was written by a gentleman of Nevada. We heartily subscribe to the comment of the editor, who says of it, "Come with us to the mountains, whence there slonzas came, and we will show you a poet!"

The Blacksmith's Daughter.

BY MAY. In the blacksmith's little parlor... Quiet, shapely piece... Nelly sat, and I leaved her... Sunny face, with merry laughter...

A Mafactraction Devoiced by Juons... Several years before the French occupation of Algeria, amongst the numerous malefactors with whom the prisons overflowed, were two persons condemned to death—two brothers, who were to be executed the next day. They were highway robbers, hamstringers, and cut-throats...

When the lion came to the leg which was confined by the iron fetter, finding it resisted his teeth he cut off the limb above the knee... "What! whether he had eaten enough or whether he was thirsty, he proceeded to a brook a little way off...

Gen. Cass and the President—

The Washington correspondent of the New York Herald, under date of December 10th, gives the following concerning General Cass... "As I intimated in my dispatch yesterday, the veteran statesman of Michigan has written to some friends in gold. Krystown, who had recently interrogated him as to whether he would consent to have his name used in connection with the Presidency...

The Poor Little Lion—

The New York Independent has the following from a mother: "But did I tell you what a time I had with my little Jon? Why, I was showing him the picture of the martyrs thrown to the lions, and was talking very solemnly to him, trying to make him feel what a terrible thing it was... 'But' said he all at once, 'Oh, no! just look at the poor little lion away behind there! He won't get any!'"
