

From South Fork Eel River.—We learn from the mail carrier, that the Sproul boys, an attack on whom by Indians we noticed last week, are improving and will soon be entirely recovered. They have moved over to Armstrong's where a stockade is being erected to protect themselves from any further attacks by Indians. The troops sent out from Fort Humboldt were met just this side of South Fork.

