

We immediately commenced the pursuit and after a hard chase of an hour saw 10 or 12 Indians about two hundred yards ahead of us, and fired a volley at them, which wounded three, one of whom escaped. The others broke for the chaparral, and it was impossible to find them. — Northern Californian.

What became of the two wounded Indians that did not escape?

