

POSTSCRIPT

Lieut. B. Wiloy, of the Union Volunteers, and Capt. Chesley Woodward, of the same, arrived in town last night from the seat of war. They inform us that on Sunday the 4th Capt. F. M. Woodward, in company with five others, guided by two Weitspock Indians, went to the Cappell and Morro ranches, at which place the Indians informed Capt. Woodward that a portion of the Red Caps were concealed nearby and proffered to guide the whites to the place. The two Weitspocks refused to accompany them and said they meant the whites foul; Capt. Woodward, however, to test their loyalty, went with them. After carrying him and his men a circuitous route they led him into an ambush of hostiles, who fired upon the troops, without however doing much damage, upon which Capt. W. shot the guide and one of his men shot one of the hostiles, when the balance ran, it being dark they could not be followed. They returned to camp that night and next day collected a portion of the Union Company, and with Capt. Chesley Woodward's Company from Salmon proceeded to the same ranches. They divided the Companies, each taking a ranch. Capt. F. M. Woodward's party killed twenty warriors and took eighteen squaws prisoners. Capt. Chesley Woodward's party killed six warriors and took five squaws prisoners. Among those killed by Capt. F. M. Woodward's party were three Red Cap warriors, who were in the Morro ranch. The Indians at the Cappell ranch were armed and made a considerable resistance, wounding Lt. John Hughes slightly through the arm.

The Indians above mentioned are the same that Capt. Young was in pursuit of. The squaws are in confinement and are fed by the Weitspicks.

THE HUMBOLDT TIMES.

UNION, CALIFORNIA, SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 10, 1855.

BT-TIMES.

War Prospects in Europe.

It is a very likely thing that the rights of the weaker nations will be maintained, and that the rights of the stronger nations will be maintained. The result of the war will be a great benefit to the world, and a great benefit to the nations of Europe. The result of the war will be a great benefit to the world, and a great benefit to the nations of Europe.

In the early part of the last session of the Legislature, the San Francisco Herald published the following article, which was published in the Herald, and which was published in the Herald, and which was published in the Herald.

inter of the same name, and the Committee of the House of Representatives, and the Committee of the House of Representatives, and the Committee of the House of Representatives.

D. COLLEMAN.

For a long time, one of the...

The result of the war will be a great benefit to the world, and a great benefit to the nations of Europe. The result of the war will be a great benefit to the world, and a great benefit to the nations of Europe.

The result of the war will be a great benefit to the world, and a great benefit to the nations of Europe. The result of the war will be a great benefit to the world, and a great benefit to the nations of Europe.

The result of the war will be a great benefit to the world, and a great benefit to the nations of Europe. The result of the war will be a great benefit to the world, and a great benefit to the nations of Europe.

For a long time, one of the...

For a long time, one of the...

The result of the war will be a great benefit to the world, and a great benefit to the nations of Europe. The result of the war will be a great benefit to the world, and a great benefit to the nations of Europe.

The result of the war will be a great benefit to the world, and a great benefit to the nations of Europe. The result of the war will be a great benefit to the world, and a great benefit to the nations of Europe.

The result of the war will be a great benefit to the world, and a great benefit to the nations of Europe. The result of the war will be a great benefit to the world, and a great benefit to the nations of Europe.