

CAPT. D. H. SNYDER.—In the letter of Mr. Wiley a charge is made against this gentleman, and Indians given as the authors thereof, which we would not allow a place in our columns was it not for the opportunity to contradict the inference drawn, that Capt. Snyder is with the Indians and against peace. At the commencement of the Indian difficulties, parties on the Klamath sent runners over to Hoopa Valley to endeavor to entice the Indians of that valley away; they consulted with the citizens of Hoopa, who told them to stop where they were; that if they got mixed up in the difficulties on the Klamath they would all get killed, and advised them, even forbid them, to leave the valley. The citizens were justified in their course, as inflammatory speeches had been made by parties on the Klamath, who threatened to march into Hoopa Valley and massacre the unoffending Indians there; troops even started for the purpose, and if they had not abandoned it the consequences would have been deplorable, for the inhabitants were determined to protect the Indians there at all hazards.

Whatever course Capt. Snyder has pursued in relation to the Indians in that Valley, we are assured that it meets the approbation of the inhabitants, who are anxious to have peace, so that they can attend to their farms, and be satisfied that their wives and children are safe, of which they could not be assured if an unprovoked attack was made upon the Indians and they forced into the mountains as enemies. Capt. Snyder is a gentleman and one of our bravest and hardiest pioneers; some two years ago he explored Hoopa and removed there against the remonstrances of all his friends, who foreboded his death by the Indians. He, however, by indomitable energy and will soon satisfied the Indians that it was better to be friends with him, and they have proved themselves trueworthy. Through his exertions that valley has been changed from a wilderness to one of the healthiest agricultural valleys in the State. Every foot of land has been taken up by farmers, a large flouring mill is going up, and a permanent settlement. Many families have settled there within the past year, and many more are removing there. All brought along with them one man. He has also, at his own expense, opened trails from this place to the Salmon River. Would that this valley could boast of a few hun-
