

MORE INDIAN TROUBLES. The Humboldt Times, of February 9th says it is understood that thirty-nine Indians have been killed by the settlers on Eel river. It seems that some of the settlers had left their homes to attend to their stock in a distant locality, and on returning, found that the Indians had destroyed every thing. This caused the massacre. The same paper is informed that the settlers of the upper Mattole had made an attack on a band of predatory Indians and killed seven of their number.

ARRIVAL OF THE PONY EXPRESS DATES TO FEBRUARY 15th.

St. Louis, Feb. 15, 1861.

The Navy bill has passed the Senate.

The Committee appointed to investigate the Reports, relative to the seizure of the Capital, are unable to discover any secret organization to seize the Capital.

Nothing has yet been done in Congress towards a compromise.

It is thought a vote on the report of the Committee of Thirty-three will not be passed before the action of the Peace Congress.

That body is still at work, in Committee, on the plan submitted by Guthrie, which is substantially that of the Kentucky Legislature, or Crittenden's Compromise, without the clause relative to territory hereafter acquired.

A resolution has been adopted that no territory shall be hereafter acquired without the approval of three-fourths of the States.

The obstacle in the Peace Congress is understood to be the territorial question.

The progress of the President, from Indianapolis to Pittsburg was a continued route, and expressed confidence in the final settlement of all difficulties, for thus far nobody had been hurt.

He says his policy must be regulated by ever-changing circumstances, but he must adhere to the Chicago platform on all subjects.

Lincoln's speeches are very gratifying to ultra Republicans at Washington and elsewhere, but are not encouraging to those who have been hopeful of compromise.

The condition of affairs at the South is unchanged. The new Provisional Government having taken charge of affairs, no result upon any of the forts is apprehended.

Unconfirmed rumors state that reinforcements have been sent to Fort Pickens and the forts in Texas.

GREELY AND THE PRESIDENT.

Two very frank meetings at Springfield, Illinois, on the 6th. One is the President elect, and the other Horace Greeley, and in the interview it would reveal some very frank, open and candid remarks, with questions and answers interlarded. We shall certainly see something about it in the Tribune very soon, and if the President that is to be does not come square up to the "don't budget" policy of the Tribune, there will be an elegant family quarrel that may outlast the one between Buchanan and Fremont.

It is stated by telegraph that Mr. Lincoln called upon Mr. Greeley at his hotel (Block) and the interview lasted several hours. Mr. Greeley urged a strict adherence to no compromise policy, and is said to have received gratifying assurances. His opinion as to Cabinet and other appointments, was solicited and given. He is known to be much interested in the appointment of Chase and Colfax. Chas. Fremont, he thinks, should have the mission to France. Although just defeated in Albany for the Senate, he, like a disinterested patriot, did not ask anything, either for himself or his friends. G. B. Lincoln of New York, was present during part of the interview.—[St. Louis Correspondent of the Alta.]

ACTION OF THE KENTUCKY LEGISLATURE.

The following resolution has been adopted by both branches of the Kentucky Legislature. It passed the Senate by vote of 25 to 11, and the House by a vote of 54 to 30.

Resolved, That as this General Assembly has made an application to Congress to call a National Convention to amend the Constitution of the United States, and requested the Legislatures of all the other States to make similar applications, and has appointed Commissioners to meet those which have been appointed by other States, at a designated time and place, to consider, and if practically agree upon some suitable adjustment of the present unhappy controversy, it is unnecessary and inexpedient for this Legislature to take any further action on this subject at the present time.—As an evidence of the sincerity and good faith of our propositions for adjustment, and an expression of devotion to the Union, and desire for its preservation, Kentucky awaits with deep solicitude the response from her sister States.
