

LATER FROM PITT RIVER.—Mr. H. Miller arrived at Yreka on Tuesday, the 16th ult., from Squaw's Valley, near a branch of McCloud river, bringing further news in relation to the late massacre at Pitt-River Valley. The Siskiyou Chronicle says:

He learned the details from the Squaw Valley Indians, who learned them from Indians who reside some distance below the ferries, on the wagon road. They say that the attack was made in the night—that four of the men were in one of the houses, and did a good deal of shooting before the house was set on fire. That the burning house forced them out when the Indians killed them; that Harry Lockhart was in the house, at the furthest ferry, and when the fire was applied to the house, he shot and killed one Indian, and retreated into the house. When the fire forced him out of the house, he started for the river, and was killed; that the Pitt River Indians are boasting of their deeds, and say they will destroy the whites as fast as they go up to that valley. Mr. Sylvester Reese and Mr. Miller came up from Soda Springs with this news."
