

ADJUTANT GENERAL'S REPORT.—Gen. Kibbe's report states that the whole expense of subsisting 92 men five and a half months, and one hundred Indian prisoners three months was $32,834 86—total amount of indebtedness incurred by the State in the late Humboldt war. This, we think, has been a marvelously economical campaign.

"Hyraxion."—During the Revolutionary war Josiah Quidley, adopting the signature of "Hyraxion," printed a series of revolutionary articles in the Boston Gazette. When we read the following extract we will understand what invigorated the arms of the colonists. How it made the brave old hearts burn with patriotic resolve:
 "Who has the front to ask, wherefore do
