

FROM THE INTERIOR.

Trinity.

In our issue of Monday we copied a paragraph from the Shasta Courier relative to the murder of Mr. Anderson, killed by the Indians. A correspondent from Weaverville gives us the following particulars:

WEAVERVILLE, April 18th, 1852.

Messrs. Editors:—A melancholy occurrence happened near here on Thursday last. Mr. Anderson, an elderly, well known and respectable citizen of this place, while on his way in with a lot of beef cattle, was murdered by the Indians within five miles of this place. His body has not yet been found. His horse came in without saddle or bridle, they both being found about two or three hundred yards from where the cattle were driven from the trail by the Indians. Directly on the tracks of the cattle both of his dogs were also found, shot with arrows, near where the bridle was. We traced the cattle as far as we could up to last night, but could not overtake them; found several of his papers on the way, which were in the side pocket of his coat. We will pursue them this morning till we overtake them, and kill all we find. We have come to the determination to pay no more State taxes, but keep the revenue belonging to the government to defray the expenses of hunting Indians and pay the losses sustained by them. You will hear from me again.

Yours, respectfully,

J. A. LUCKETT.

Sonora.

DAILY UNION

SACRAMENTO, TUESDAY MORNING, APRIL 27, 1852.

and dis- would it add at all to the argument. I will branch of the subject, I rely for support, with gain that balance of power, so closely husbanded by our only one more. The right to an abiding confidence, in the intelligence and ndt, however, with a view, o information of every calm and dispassionate any of those questions that l with them. but u