

MYSTEROUS DISAPPEARANCE.—On Saturday last, as a couple of gentlemen were in the act of crossing Mad River, near Union, they heard a rax in an Indian Ranch near by, and on going in to ascertain the cause, they learned that a notorious Redwood Indian was in the Ranch—the same Indian was taken prisoner by the volunteers last winter, and escaped about the close of the campaign. He was the Indian who his comrades say killed Boynton, last summer. At all events he was known to be a bad Indian. He was brought into Union, a prisoner, and taken charge of by constable Hogoboom. On Sunday morning it was discovered that he was missing, and what became of him appears to be a mystery. It is sure that he did not effect an escape by his own exertions, and how he escaped, or whither he traveled, will probably, always remain a mystery. It is most likely, however, that an effectual treaty of peace was entered into with his diggership.
