

INDIAN RESERVATION.—We learn, says the Red Bluff Beacon, from Col E. A. Stevenson, that the Indian Reservation under his charge is in a flourishing condition. The Colonel tells us there are about four thousand Indians at Nome Lackee, all in a healthy condition. There are two thousand acres of wheat sown on the Reserve, which promises to yield a fair average crop.

asked a promise of hope for the future. She discovered to him the secret of the past, and asked to be forgotten, as her husband might still claim her.

'If, Elmira,' said the young man, 'your husband were to release you from your vow would I be your choice? might I hope to be your husband?'

HOW SOULS DRESS IN HEAVEN.—The New England Spiritualist, in a late issue, gives a letter from 'Our Lady Correspondent' in the spirit-world who makes the following revelations in regard to the fashions up above:

ALL ABOUT HEADS.

The head of a family is the best head, phrenologically speaking, known among heads. They are the heads that produce nations, religions and homes; they enjoy prosperity, happiness and hot breakfasts; they possess
