

MORE CATTLE KILLED BY INDIANS.—We learn from H. J. Davis, of Hydesville, that the Indians have been killing more cattle for Hon. E. L. Davis, and that he has gone out, at the request of his herdsmen, to remove his cattle, but where to take them he does not know. We learn further, that the stock owners in the vicinity of Yager Creek and the Bald Hills have all concluded to move their stock. They cannot afford to hire men to fight Indians, and there appears to be no other means of chastising them in this county. Verily, our citizens should rejoice at having a military post in our county.

There are many reasons for anticipating that as the silver mines are developed and regularly worked, Carson City will become the favorite place of residence for the families of those engaged in the silver work, who desire to have their households near them. The immediate vicinity of the mines is not considered suitable for comfortable residence, because of the disagreeable and variable winds prevailing there, as well as of the warms which at Virginia City is said to be most pleasant to the taste, and impracticable with a single and other deleterious substances. Already there are quite a number of ladies residing in Carson City, and many children. A school mistress is also engaged to present successful operation; and a church edifice and jail may be speedily looked for.	Sweet Home. How oft we hear thee tattle worth! When music bursts from happy hearts That still to joy belong! When rosy beams of daylight dawn, Or when the shadows fall, We hear the glad dome echoes tell, "Sweet home" hath charms for all. These simple words! That plaintive air! My mother sang the strains In days gone past, in happy days, That may not come again! She sang it by the household hearth, Our father sitting by, And smiles were playing on his lips, But tear-drops filled his eye! "O earth there is no place like home," She taught my lips to say, But all that made my home so dear Long since has passed away! We hear no more her gentle voice, At morning or at noon, She has an angel's golden harp, Her song is heard in Heaven. I hear it sung by others now, And o'er my soul the while, Soul memories, sadly sweet, that bring A tear-drop and a smile; And oh! 'tis sweet even now to hear Those thrilling murmurs fall, "Home, sweet, sweet home," 'tis not of earth, Heaven hath a home for all! LETTERS FROM WASHOE.	Natural Advantages of the Town.
