

Gen. KIBBE.—This gentleman, as we stated last week, has gone to the Atlantic States by the Overland coach. He carries with him all the papers and vouchers relative to the late Indian war in this section, with a view of procuring the assumption of the debt, paid by this State, by the General Government. His business is also in connection with the donation of arms by the United States to this State. Every State in the Union, we believe, has had a donation of arms from the General Government, and as California, on account of her isolated position, needs more than any other State, we hope Gen. Kibbe's mission, in this respect, will be crowned with success.
