

FROM THE TROOPS.—Mr. John D. Skilling, one of the volunteer guides, writes us under date of 16th inst., giving the details of the Indian fight on Boulder creek, substantially as in our columns last week. He speaks in the following terms of the officers:

"We found in Capt. Underwood a perfect gentleman. He had good quarters prepared for us while we remained at Fort Gaston, and did all a man could do to have the expedition fitted out with everything for our comfort. Sergeant Hartman is a good officer and commands as good a set of men as ever went into the mountains. Corporal Green Wilkinson is a trump and his little band are ready to back him."
