A New Expedition to the North.

A letter from Marselles, Saturday, states that a fresh expedition has been started for discovering the source of the Nile. The expedition is conducted by M. N. P. de Bylandt, who has embarked at Cairo the 15th of June. He is accompanied by a large force of men and animals, and is expected to reach the source of the Nile within the next few months.

Tallyho and Arrived.

There was a day when Tallyho stirred at Havre, on foot from Paris. It was the darkest hour of the French Revolution. Persecuted by the blood-thirsty tyrants of the Reign of Terror, stripped of every shred of property, and driven from their homes, the poor and wretched people of France were seeking a refuge in a distant land.
