

FROM THE VOLUNTEERS.— We have received a note from Ed. Turk, one of the volunteers, also one from our Hydesville correspondent, but we have no room to publish them in full this week. The volunteers had stormed several ranches and killed quite a number of Indians. J. H. Morrison, Commissary, had been in to Bel river after more supplies, it being the intention of the company to remain out for several weeks longer.

