

Col. HENLY.—To the San Francisco Herald we acknowledge ourselves and our county indebted, for the aid it has extended to us in our search after the sine cure officer, the Superintendent of Indians of California. Rumor has it that there is such an office, and that it is "embodied" in the person of our Thomas J. Henly. He has been written to, beseeched and entreated to take some steps to relieve our section of the troublesome Indians that infest it. Our rancheros have all been compelled to drive their stocks into the immediate vicinity of the towns. Not a pack train leaves this place unless doubly manned and armed, to resist the attacks of Indians. Such a state of affairs cannot last, our citizens will be compelled to take up arms and exterminate every Indian against whom suspicion is directed. To the "memorable seven" of Orleans Bar, we are more than half inclined to tender an apology for our castigation of their course, and in so doing divest ourselves of that sympathy and pity we once entertained for the Indian. We hope that Col. Henly can be induced to lay aside intregue and "compromise" and attend to the interest of the whites and the wants of the Indians, instead of making the office a political machine and of affording to his political favorites opportunities for speculation.

THE HUMBOLDT TIMES.

UNION, CALIFORNIA, SATURDAY, JUNE 16, 1855.

TUESDAY

THE GAZETTE'S PURCHASE.—A correspondent of California paper says that copies of gold and silver articles in the country purchased from Messrs. the Ministry of the Interior, an by the Gadsden, treaty, and that a number of they would not be permitted small parties who had gone thither in search of precious metals, and that a number of them, owing to the difficulty of procuring supplies, had been obliged to abandon them. It appears to be beyond a doubt that the Gadsden treaty, which is now in the hands of the Emperor, is a representation of one of the most important and valuable acquisitions of the Emperor. It is also well known that the Emperor is now in possession of the rich mines of the Gadsden treaty, and that the Emperor is now in possession of the rich mines of the Gadsden treaty, and that the Emperor is now in possession of the rich mines of the Gadsden treaty.

THE COMPASSER IN PARIS.—The Paris correspondent of the New York Commercial, writing on the 24th ult., says: "I have just received a copy of the Emperor's speech, which is now in the hands of the Emperor. It is a most interesting document, and it shows that the Emperor is now in possession of the rich mines of the Gadsden treaty, and that the Emperor is now in possession of the rich mines of the Gadsden treaty."

ALL ABOUT THE WAR.—The Emperor's speech, which is now in the hands of the Emperor, is a most interesting document, and it shows that the Emperor is now in possession of the rich mines of the Gadsden treaty, and that the Emperor is now in possession of the rich mines of the Gadsden treaty.

THE BRITISH ARMY.—A little drummer boy in the British army, who was in the thick of the fight at Inkermann, has just returned to England. He is now in the hands of the Emperor, and he is now in possession of the rich mines of the Gadsden treaty, and that the Emperor is now in possession of the rich mines of the Gadsden treaty.

THE GADSDEN TREATY.—The Emperor is now in possession of the rich mines of the Gadsden treaty, and that the Emperor is now in possession of the rich mines of the Gadsden treaty.

THE EMPEROR'S SPEECH.—The Emperor's speech, which is now in the hands of the Emperor, is a most interesting document, and it shows that the Emperor is now in possession of the rich mines of the Gadsden treaty, and that the Emperor is now in possession of the rich mines of the Gadsden treaty.

THE GADSDEN TREATY.—The Emperor is now in possession of the rich mines of the Gadsden treaty, and that the Emperor is now in possession of the rich mines of the Gadsden treaty.

THE COMPASSER IN PARIS.—The Paris correspondent of the New York Commercial, writing on the 24th ult., says: "I have just received a copy of the Emperor's speech, which is now in the hands of the Emperor. It is a most interesting document, and it shows that the Emperor is now in possession of the rich mines of the Gadsden treaty, and that the Emperor is now in possession of the rich mines of the Gadsden treaty."

THE GAZETTE'S PURCHASE.—A correspondent of California paper says that copies of gold and silver articles in the country purchased from Messrs. the Ministry of the Interior, an by the Gadsden, treaty, and that a number of they would not be permitted small parties who had gone thither in search of precious metals, and that a number of them, owing to the difficulty of procuring supplies, had been obliged to abandon them. It appears to be beyond a doubt that the Gadsden treaty, which is now in the hands of the Emperor, is a representation of one of the most important and valuable acquisitions of the Emperor. It is also well known that the Emperor is now in possession of the rich mines of the Gadsden treaty, and that the Emperor is now in possession of the rich mines of the Gadsden treaty.

THE BRITISH ARMY.—A little drummer boy in the British army, who was in the thick of the fight at Inkermann, has just returned to England. He is now in the hands of the Emperor, and he is now in possession of the rich mines of the Gadsden treaty, and that the Emperor is now in possession of the rich mines of the Gadsden treaty.

THE EMPEROR'S SPEECH.—The Emperor's speech, which is now in the hands of the Emperor, is a most interesting document, and it shows that the Emperor is now in possession of the rich mines of the Gadsden treaty, and that the Emperor is now in possession of the rich mines of the Gadsden treaty.

THE GADSDEN TREATY.—The Emperor is now in possession of the rich mines of the Gadsden treaty, and that the Emperor is now in possession of the rich mines of the Gadsden treaty.

THE COMPASSER IN PARIS.—The Paris correspondent of the New York Commercial, writing on the 24th ult., says: "I have just received a copy of the Emperor's speech, which is now in the hands of the Emperor. It is a most interesting document, and it shows that the Emperor is now in possession of the rich mines of the Gadsden treaty, and that the Emperor is now in possession of the rich mines of the Gadsden treaty."

THE GAZETTE'S PURCHASE.—A correspondent of California paper says that copies of gold and silver articles in the country purchased from Messrs. the Ministry of the Interior, an by the Gadsden, treaty, and that a number of they would not be permitted small parties who had gone thither in search of precious metals, and that a number of them, owing to the difficulty of procuring supplies, had been obliged to abandon them. It appears to be beyond a doubt that the Gadsden treaty, which is now in the hands of the Emperor, is a representation of one of the most important and valuable acquisitions of the Emperor. It is also well known that the Emperor is now in possession of the rich mines of the Gadsden treaty, and that the Emperor is now in possession of the rich mines of the Gadsden treaty.