

INDIAN EXPEDITION.—Lient. Collins, who started some time since from Humboldt Bay, with troops, for the purpose of chastising Indians who had committed depredations in the vicinity of Eel River, and other portions of Humboldt county, is now on the confines of the western border of our county with his command. He has had two engagements with the Indians, in one of which he killed thirty-six, and in the other seven. The command have killed 196 Indians since they started out. Many of the Indians have taken refuge in Tehama and Shasta Counties. — Horselown Argus.
