Nome Curt. AND Nome Lacker.—The former of these Indian Reservations is located in Mendocino county, and the latter in Telama.—The Nome Cult has 1.800 Indians upon it and the Nome Lackee 3,000. The Express understands from Mr. Soyder, the editor of the paper at Tehama, who has been traveling in that region that the wheat and other crops on both Reservations are fine, specking well for the industry of the Indians.
