

MORE PRISONERS.—Thirty-nine more Indians—large and small—were brought to Fort Humboldt a few days ago from the south fork of Eel river. They were induced to seek an asylum at Fort Humboldt by some of the settlers of Upper Mattole.

HUMBOLDT TIMES.

REKA, HUMBOLDT COUNTY, CALIFORNIA, SATURDAY, JULY 26, 1862.

[From Vanity Fair.
Skedaddle.
 shadow of night were falling fast, through a Southern village passed, outh who bore, not over nice, answer with the gay devils, Skedaddle!
 hair was red; his look beneath, ped, like an scorn from its sheath;

California's Hour of Peril.
 The intention of the secessionists to drag California out of the Union at the commencement of the present war, has long been understood by observing men. The San Francisco correspondent of an Eastern paper, writing after the receipt of the news of the battle of Shiloh and the death of Johnston, writes as follows:

Oration DELIVERED AT ARUNATA JULY 4TH, 1862, BY
 H. W. HAYES, ESQ.
 Eighty-six years ago to-day, the American Republic was ushered into being, and became a power among the nations of the earth. The causes that brought about this event,—the men by whose agency it was devised and perfected, and the principles involved in its successful

Republic is threatened by an attempt to sever eleven States from the confederacy.
 The attempt was so wickedly bold in its conception, and so fatally destructive in its avowed intent, that it fell upon the heart of the American people with astound, like a hideous dream, or a clap of thunder from a clear sky.
 But the fearful nightmare was soon shaken off by the roar of artillery, and the latent devotion of the people to the permit me idence the a cheri-

 in Engla attribut sidious i present t cont writ carefully world in more war