

The Humboldt Times advises forcible collection of Indians to the Reservations, and that "squaw men" be compelled to send off their concubines, or go themselves. [The same complaint may be made in other places. We believe that more than half the difficulties that arise in California between Indians and white people, are traceable to these "squaw men." They are certainly the lowest, meanest, most contemptible, worthless, and abandoned trash that ever disgraced the earth.—Ed. BEACON.]

Red Bluff Beacon.

RED BLUFF, WEDNESDAY, JULY 28, 1858. NO. 19.