OUR INDIAN ThoUBLES.—Reliate parties at Hydesville have raised $1,000 for the purpose of sending a party to fight the savages; but all those who are most effective in this business are now engaged in harvesting, and cannot leave. All citizens of our county who do not reside in the largest towns, live in constant dread of an attack from savages. As soon as - these fiends have eaten what flour they were able to carry away from Cooper's mill, it is expected they will make another attack. At what point they will strike. and who will pay the penalty of being a white resident of this county, it is impos sible to tell. We learn that Mrs. Cooper, the widow of the man whom the Indiana assassinate ed last week, is very much affected. cannot bear to see strangers, and at the slightest hoise will start with a look of apprehension and horror, as though she were living over again that fearful ordeal through which she has so recently passed.
