

INDIAN MURDERS ON KLAMATH.—We learn from Mr. Lemuel Lakin, who arrived in town on Tuesday last, from Scott's Bar—Scott River—that on the 27th ult. the Indians killed twelve men, and wounded two others, on the Klamath, near Scott's River. On Friday afternoon they went to Buckeye Bar, and killed three men who were at work; and from thence they went to Peckham's Ranch, where on Saturday morning they killed four Packers. Between Buckeye and Peckham's they killed five, and wounded two others. Mr. Lakin saw the wounded men, one of whom was supposed to be wounded mortally. It was said to be Klamath Indians who committed the murders. Two of them were captured at Yreka on the 30th, and hung on the 31st. A large amount of ammunition was found upon them, which, they said, was furnished them by negroes living in Yreka, who had Indian wives. The negroes were lynched and ordered to leave the country. On the 30th, the volunteers killed three Indians on the Klamath, where all work has been suspended for the present.

Confession of the American Navy.

New York Daily News. Robert F. Cutting, a member of the American Navy, has confessed to the murder of a British officer on board the Albatross in 1842.

The situation is the same as yesterday. All the demonstrations of the enemy against the allied works have been fruitless. They have abandoned the summit of the mountain, and the shore of the bay is now in our hands. The British are retreating towards the city of Sevastopol.

The whole operation was most brilliant. Great gallantry was displayed on the part of the British troops. The success of last night was complete, and the gallantry and steadiness of the troops cannot be too highly spoken of. The French succeeded in securing the works of the Malakoff, and those on its left called the "Ouvrages Blancs," and in those they took six or two guns, including eight coborns and four hundred men.
