

OUTRAGE IN MENDOCINO COUNTY.—A correspondent of the UNION, writing from Ukiah City, Mendocino county, August 13th, relates the following case of outrage :

Allow me to inform you of a most inhuman outrage that took place here last Wednesday morning. A young man living here in town hired an Indian to go with him after a load of barley. When about one-fourth of a mile on their way, they met one Bob Hildreth, who claimed the Indian as his property and asked the Indian where he was going. The Indian answering, after barley, he told him to get out of the wagon d—d quick; that he would show him the way to come home. He made the Indian cross his hands behind, when he fastened them with his rope, swearing he would drag him to death. Then, mounting his horse and taking two half hitches around the logger head of his saddle, he put spurs to his horse, throwing the Indian eight or ten feet, with a hard fall—the Indian screaming and begging for his life. The horse, after going some few jumps, became frightened and threw Hildreth off. The rope being tied would not come loose, the horse running zigzag across the road and crossing two ditches before he was caught. The Indian was terribly mangled, his arms being twisted off in his shoulders. So much for slavery in California. Jarboe, the great Indian hunter of Humboldt, who is now dead, claimed to have had those Indians bound to him by one of the most cursed of all laws that ever were passed in this State. Hildreth, buying the property of Mrs. Jarboe, now claims these Indians as part of the estate. She setting the Indians free to go where they please, they will not stay with Hildreth, nor has he any right to them. The Legislature has done much blowing concerning the Indians in this county, but every Act hits them harder. They are held here as slaves were held in the South; those owning them use them as they please, beat them with clubs and shoot them down like dogs, and no one to say: "Why do you do so?" James Shores, an Indian slaveholder here, shot one the other day, because he would not stand and be whipped, inflicting a severe wound, but not killing him. Hildreth is bound over in the sum of one thousand dollars for his appearance, but I have my doubts of finding a jury that will convict a man for killing an Indian up here.

people to change their form of government whenever the same has become oppressive, or failed to accomplish the end and object of all Government, to wit: the happiness and prosperity of the governed; we emphatically deny the right under the Federal Constitution of any State to withdraw from the Union without the consent of three-fourths of the States thereof.

In other words, unless the Constitution be amended so as to let South Carolina out, she cannot go. [Applause] who are the best judges as to Judge? We should regard it as trifling if a layman should undertake the qualifications of a surgeon, against surgeons in the land. And I submit, in the Courts, who read the decisions, and who are immediately affected, that the most competent men to judge of the merits of a Judge, I have no comment.
