INDIAN OUTBREAK ON PITT RIVER .- The Yrcka Journal has intelligence that two weeks ago a party of ninetecumen from Rouge river valley with 850 head of beefcattle, on their way to Washoo, wia Pitt river, were attacked, while going down the latter named river when a short distance above Fort Crooks, by 125 Pa-ute Indians, who killed two of the men, Mr. Evans and Joseph Bailey, and wounded two others: and took possession of all the stock... The men who escaped went to the Fort and returned with the soldiers stationed there with Lieut. Pflugar recovered 170 head of cattle. His party only saw seven Indians, of whomthey killed two and wounded two. Lieut. Pfluger was shot twice, once in the arm and once in the breast. The Journal further learns that the settlers of Pitt river valley have determined to commence a war of extermination-ugainst-the-Indians, which that paper approves in strong terms.
