

More Depredations by the Indians.

One of California Stage Company's Stages, while on the up trip, to Yreka, was attacked by the Indians at Lost Cabin, about sixty miles from Shasta, on Thursday morning last. The driver was shot, with three balls, and an arrow, but succeeded in cutting the traces of one of the horses and making his escape. The Company we understand have withdrawn their stages from the route, and entered into arrangements with Greathouse & Co, at Shasta, by which persons traveling up North, can now find, a safe and secure route. The Greathouse's are kind and clever gentlemen, and we wish them success.
