

NOT FOUND.—In last week's TIMES we noticed the disappearance of Jerry Wilson, his probable murder by Indians, and that a party of ten citizens of Arcata has gone out to search for the body. The party returned after a careful examination of the region where he was last known to be alive, but did not succeed in finding the body. They discovered evidence sufficient to establish the fact that Indians had murdered him, as was before supposed. Some indications induced the belief that he had been wounded when first attacked, then dragged to a spot secure from observation and tortured to death.

Lieut. Warren is in that vicinity at present with a detachment of the volunteer company, and we hope soon to learn that justice has been meted out to the savages at whose hands Wilson met his lonely death.

True Love.
 I cannot boast a palace home,
 Nor wealth nor guided state;
 True love may have chains for eyes, but I
 For ever my home will be the heart
 Such children will I see,
 That shall I can claim no while I know
 A true-foul heart-love me.
 Our cottage home is poor and plain,
 Our table both small and low;
 But if you'll come to cheer our soul,
 Where we have some corn and wheat,
 And some fine warble notes of love
 With an each leafy tree,
 I cannot face, though fortune frown

Secession in England.
 The attitude assumed by the press and public men of England towards the United States, upon the breaking out of the present civil war, was a matter of surprise to the people of this country.
 In explanation, it now is pretty well understood that the whole matter was freely talked of by the leading men of that nation long before secession was considered among the probabilities in the North.

A Strange Statement.
 The following statement from the Baltimore American was received by the San Francisco papers on the 4th inst.
 by Pony express:
 A letter from Louisville, says that Jas.
 Hewitt, Esq. of the firm of Hewitt, Mack & Co., of that city, has just advised Orleans, has lately arrived from Richmond, and is authority for the following strange statement, now rumored extensively about this city:
 Since the battle at Manassas the pi-most demoralization and discouragement has
