

A DIGGER SHOT BY DIGGERS.—A Mad River digger along with James McCoy's train was shot by diggers near Willow Creek, on the old Trinity trail, on Sunday last. He was with the bell animal, ahead of the train, descending the Willow Creek hill, at the time, and was shot with a yager, by an Indian in the bushes, near the trail. The ball passed through his body, causing death in a few hours. He was shot by a Redwood Indian, doubtless, in revenge for one of their's killed by another Indian some weeks ago.
