RUNAWAY INDIANS. -- On Thursday evening, Col. D. E. Buel, who is still in charge of the Klamath Reservation, arrived in town, with the intention of gathering the runaway Indians and again taking them to the reservation. He reports that from eighty to one hundred have escaped, and they are most probably all about their old haunts in this county. -That the Indians which were removed from here last Spring should steal away from the reservation in small parties and seek to again live at their old homes is not strange, but those acquainted with Indian character knew it must be so. Butif they are now taken back and re assured by our citizens that they shall not again settle here, it will probably be the last trial they will make,

Col. Buel has not a dellar of government money which he can use in the removal of Indians, and must depend upon the assistance of the people of the county. This will no doubt be cheerfully rendered by all. There certainly should be no hanging back in the matter, particularly -by these who deplore the tragical affair of last Spring, and would guard against the recurrence of such scenes. If it was true and it is the only argument we evor heard as an apology for the massasacre that these Indians were in communication with and giving aid to the mountain Indians, it is of the first importance that all classes should engerly render all the aid possible for the immediate return of the runaways.

The off repeated the that there is an insufficiency of food at the Reserve for the subsistence of the Indians, is untirely without foundation. The Agent assures us that there is an abundance, and that if the Indians can once be made to understand that they can have no other home than that provided by government, there never need be any lack of an ample sup-

Mr. Buel is active and energetic in the discharge of his official duties, and determined to do all in his power to keep the Indians where they belong. We sincere-It trust that his efforts will be appreciat deand promptly seconded by the citizens of Hamboldt county. In company with Sheriff Van Nest and others, Mr. Buel serimenced the work of collecting the inchose yesterday morning.
