PASSING.—The Indians who ran, or rather walked away from father Hanson's Smith-River Asylum, passed up Redwood towards their old homes the latter part of last week. The Weaver mail carrier saw quite a lot of them and others saw their sign. There are a few Indians at present on the Peninsula, and we think it would be "humane" in the Superintendent to let them go home from where they are rather than compel them to walk all the way from Smith River back to where they came from.
