

*I cannot close this report without speaking of the healthy and flourishing condition of Nome Lackee Reservation, which is situated twenty miles west of the Sacramento River at the foot of the Coast Range. Under the management of V. E. Geiger, is in a more flourishing condition than ever before. Mr. G. is much beloved by the Indians, and keeps them under the strictest discipline, but still they are contented and happy. Between thirty and forty thousand bushels of grain were raised on the Reserve this year, the work being all done by the Indians. Under the management of Mr. G. it will be but a short time till all the Indians in the northern part of California will be safely settled on the Reserve.
