

INDIANS RETURNING.—We learn that during the past week Indians have been coming back to Con-Cow valley and Yankee Hill from the Reservation. Who is to blame? If another massacre of whites should occur, it would be well to know upon whom the responsibility rests. The Indians should be warned to leave those localities—or the authorities warned to take them away.

Samuel silenced! How I wonder If 'tis true, and no outlander!
Silence, shattered, crushed and bold!
Sumner captured! Let it thunder O'er the land and o'er the ocean!
Let it sweep in grand commotion
Up the river to their habitations.

the subjects of other Powers, and our merchants would look on helplessly at the trans-ference of their carrying trade to ships protected by the neutral flag of the very nation whose shipbuilders were furnishing the enemy with his cruisers.

Should we bear with it? Should we permit

A Begging Letter.

General begging is about the most abject of all begging, and yet some of Gen. McClellan's friends have resorted to this course to raise him a purse. It is not long since the New York Herald described with great brilliancy, and much particularly, the Fifth Avenue house furnished, and the larder and cellar stocked, which a club of New York gentlemen had be-
