Camp Hall, Oct. 29, 1850.

BRIG. GEN. WINN:

Dear Sir,—Pursuant to the necessity of our situation, and in accordance with the order of the Governor, I have collected two hundred men, ready armed and equipped, and provisioned for five days, at this point. I have rendezvoused and sent scouting parties in various directions, to wit: Captain Stewart proceeded to the South Fork of the American river, near the emigrant trail, who returned into camp last night, and reported no Indians found in that direction. Captain Munson was ordered on the emigrant trail, to branch off at the mill; a part of which company came into camp and reported no hostile Indians discovered. A residue of said last mentioned company are still out, and likely had an engagement. Capt. Reed was sent, with his company, to the forks of the Consumnes, from which we have had no report, and no doubt he had a severe engagement. At the same time, Lieut. Colonel M'Kinney was sent out with sixteen men under his command, who met with a party of from one hundred and fifty to two hundred Indians, on the banks of a deep canon on the north branch of the Consumnes, who immediately fired upon him, a report of which engagement is herein enclosed. The bustle and commotion consequent upon the removal of our quarters, forbid my reporting in detail, but I will endeavor killed and many wounded. The very difficult situation of the canyon prevented us from following, as our own men as well as Indians, were tumbling and falling down the steep declivities, making it entirely impossible for us to secure a
