

CONCLUSION OF THE HONEY LAKE WAR.—Further accounts from Honey Lake Valley bring the gratifying intelligence that the Indian disturbances in that quarter have been brought to a close, and that amicable relations are being restored between the settlers and the Indians. The fight which was going on at the date of our last advices resulted in the defeat of the Indians, and they were then induced to make terms of peace. The distribution of the blankets and other articles taken up by Mr. Lassen, will most probably secure the peace of the Valley, at least for the present.
