

The rancheros at Round Valley, in the Coast Range, near the Nome Cult Indian Reservation, lately killed nine Indians, for stealing their cattle; and subsequently fourteen others were killed at the Reservation while endeavoring to escape from punishment for the same offense.

