Ho THERE! Reports reach us tha parties in a remote portion of the county ere engaged in the business of kidnenping Indian children and disposing of them to families in the towns and settle ments, receiving such a sum of money as may be agreed upon between the high contracting powers, in each instance from thirty to fifty dollars, according to the "trouble" incurred in obtaining possession of the children. It is intimatedand upon pretty good authority—that stratagem, and sometimes force, is made use of to capture the children, the consent of the children and their relatives being considered of but little importance. What amount of force or cunning is required to obtain possession of these little savages we do not pretend to say ; but any one who has lived long on this portion of the Pacific censt does not need to be told that Indians do not as a general practice, willingly consent to have their children taken to a distance to reside amongst strangers. Let us have no more of this business. The law of last winter which provides for the appropriceship of "vagrant Indians is perpass well enough when strict 14 complied with but does not contemplate the establishment of a domestic slave
