

INDIAN MARRIAGE.—The Rangers are busily employed, in the neighborhood of the Cow Creek, in securing the natives and transferring them to the Reservation. Household ties, we learn, have been ruthlessly severed on several occasions. Justice Stephenson performed the marriage ceremony for the benefit of a white man and a red daughter of the soil, whose affections had somehow become entangled. Her name appears on the certificate as Miss Limontona Digger. She is said to be daughter to the once famous Chief Witosh.—Shasta Herald.
