Number of Col. Rogers' Force.

It will be remembered that the first intelligence of the Indian Difficulties in El Dorado County, was brought to this city by G. G. Blaggett, Esq., who came special messenger from Col. Rogers to Gov. Burnett. The intelligence was thought of so much importance by the Governor that he ordered Sheriff Rogers to call out a force of 200 men, and commence war upon the Indians at once. The information since received makes it apparent that a smaller force is sufficient to meet the emergency. Gov. Burnett has forwarded the following dispatch to Col. Rogers:

SAN JOSE, Nov. 25th, 1850.

TO WILLIAM ROGERS,

*Commander of the Expedition
in El Dorado County :*

Dear Sir: From recent information I am well satisfied that one hundred men are sufficient to protect the people of El Dorado County from further Indian depredations. You will therefore at once reduce your command to that number. You will be careful to make a further reduction whenever circumstances will justify. You will see from the original order under date of 25th Oct., that only 200 men were to be raised, and no more of them kept in the field than might be necessary. Much must be left to your discretion, as you have superior means of information; but every effort should be made to terminate the difficulties as early as possible, and at as little expense to the State as practicable.

I have the honor to be
Your ob't. serv't.

PETER H. BURNETT,
Gov. and Com. in Chief.

THE RIGHT SPIRIT.—One of the enthusiastic electioneers was so unfortunate as to fracture his leg early yesterday morning, while he was engaged in drumming up voters. He was carried to the Missouri Hotel, where his leg was set and bound up, and as soon as this was done, he ordered one of the wagons to convey him to the polls. His friends lifted him into the wagon, and also carried him from the wagon to the ballot box, into which he deposited a vote for "Protection against Fire, Increase of Police, and NO SALARIES to Aldermen." Would that we had a few thousand more of men like him. Such men, with only one leg apiece, have power in them.

A JAM-UP WAGON.—We have heard the phrase "jam up" often used to express the superlative degree of excellence; but the same phrase can be used to express an exactly counter meaning, and it was very appropriately so used in our presence yesterday. As the Draymen's procession was turning the corner of J and Fourth streets, one of the wheels locked into a covered wagon, wheeling it around into the street, and before getting clear, the wagon was "knocked all up in a heap"—completely smashed. The procession was so much bent on making a show for "Our Ticket," that such a trifle was of no consequence, and on moved the whole display, with the most imperturbable gravity. The only notice taken of the circumstance was by a bystander, who gave the heap of ruins a hasty look, remarked that it was a "jam up look, remarked that it was a "jam-up wagon," and proceeded onward to the polls.

PROCEEDINGS OF THE MEMBERS OF THE TEHAMA AND JENNY LIND THEATRES.—"The following minutes of the action of the Dramatic corps above named, will be read with interest by their many friends in this city, and their appreciation of the merits of the deceased will be concurred in by all who knew him. We add to theirs, our sympathies for the afflicted Mrs. Kirby."

We, the members of the Tehama Theatre of Sacramento City, and of the Jenny Lind Theatre of San Francisco, in reference to the late lamentable deprivation that has befallen us in the sudden demise of J. B. WINGARD, Esq., beg leave to offer the following resolutions:

Resolved, That while we bow with meekness and humility to the Providence that has bereft us in such an instantaneous and awful form, of the person and services of our associate, manager, friend and companion—we do so in remembrance of his many estimable qualities, but with a deep and heartfelt regret.

Resolved, That we sympathize most truly in the agony of his heart-broken and disconsolate widow in this her sudden bereavement.

Resolved, That in view of the new and various responsibilities that now devolve on Mrs. Kirby, we beg leave to offer her our free services for a voluntary benefit to be given to her on some evening that she shall designate.

Resolved, That we, the undersigned, wear the usual badge of mourning for thirty days.

THE PROPELLER SEA GULL.—The Sea Gull which sailed hence for Oregon and intermediate ports, on the 10th inst., returned last evening, having on the 10th inst encountered a terrific gale, which continued with unabated fury till the evening of the 15th.—The engine was kept at work during the gale, but before the storm abated, it gave out, and the vessel was hove to under easy sail. The serious illness of the Captain, and the necessity for repairs on the rudder, rendered it necessary for the Sea Gull to return to port. She was filled with passengers. It is thought she will be ready to proceed on her voyage in a few days.—[Alta.
