

A train of wagons, thirty in number, belonging to the U. States, and loaded with stores, left here last Saturday for ~~Vietatas~~, on the edge of the great desert, at which point, we understand, a depot of provisions is to be located for the use of the troops, soon to be sent against the hostile Indians on the Gila and Colorado rivers. The energy and enterprise exhibited by the different staff officers on duty in the southern district, is worthy of all praise, and is an earnest of the feelings that actuate all concerned in punishing the hostiles.
