

abandon a profession to which he is devotedly attached by the failure of his health. During the prevalence of the Cholera, no citizen of this community was more assiduous and unremitting in his attentions to the sick and cheerfully contributing his professional services to relieve the necessities of the poor and friendless.

We hope that in consideration of the excellent qualities of head and heart which the Doctor possesses, his practice will yield the ample remuneration he so justly deserves.

✓ RECALL OF LIEUT. BEALE.—We have frequently heard it stated that the appointment of Lieut. Beale as Indian Agent for this State had been revoked, and Hon. G. B. Tingley appointed in his stead. We do not know upon what authority the statement has become current, but we hope it may prove true—not that we esteem the one less but the other more. We know nothing of Mr. Beale's fitness for such a position—but we do know that Tingley is. He possesses three most essential qualifications for the office—energy, firmness of character, and sterling honesty. And, moreover, he is an unmistakable Whig.

SONORA HERALD.—We see in the last number of this excellent paper, the valedictory of Dr. L. C. Gunn, its late editor. Dr. G., one of the pioneers of the country press of this State, has conducted the Herald since its establishment, and has gained an enviable reputation as a clear thinker, vigorous writer, and courteous gentleman. Success attend him in his new avocation, whatever it may be. Messrs. Murray and O'Sullivan, both known heretofore as occasional writers for the Herald, succeed Dr. Gunn.
