INDIANS HUNG AT BOUGH AND READY.—We learn through Gregory's express, that two Indians were hung on Tuesday, at Rough and Ready, for the murder of an American by the name of Emanuel Comstock. The murder was committed three weeks since. The body of the murdered man was not found until Sunday last, pierced through with an arrow. Immediately, steps were taken to find the murderers, which this morning proved successful. On Tuesday morning, a judge and twelve jurymen were appointed from the people, and a trial commenced. Mr. Whiteside was attorney for the prosecution, and Mr. Lyons acted in behalf of the prisoners. A fair trial was given them, without the usual legal forms. The proof of their guilt was conclusive, and they had to suffer the penalty of death. Comstock was from Mineral Point, Wis.—Sacramento Union.

It is stated in one of the Marysville papers that parties just arrived in that city from the mountains, report that thirty-four wagons of the advance emigration to this country arrived at Salt Lake. The company was in good health, and state that a large emigration to California is well advanced on the road.
