

COUNTY ACCOUNTS.—The attention of our county readers will be attracted by the amount of accounts allowed at a late sitting of the Court of Sessions. The sum total is something over $12,000. We suppose it may all be right—all just and reasonable, but no harm will be done to the interests of the people, if they take the liberty of scrutinizing all accounts passed upon by their public agents.

ELECTIONS.—On the 7th of this month elections were held in the States of New York, New Jersey, Illinois, Michigan and Wisconsin. They elected fifty-four members to Congress, who will probably be nearly unanimously Anti-Nebraska, and opposed to the present Administration.

THE MEXICAN REVOLUTION.—At last advices the revolutionary leader, Alvarez, was in camp a few miles east of Acapulco, and Santa Anna was reported distant not more than four days march, and moving towards the forces of Alvarez. He is at the head of his troops. In the event of immediate danger a schooner lies in the harbor of Acapulco to carry off the chief of the revolutionary forces.

THE ARCTIC DISASTER.—The first account of the shipwreck and loss of the Arctic with most of her passengers, was first conveyed to New York by Mr. Burns, one of the passengers saved, who delivered it, late at night, to the Herald. The next day the Herald sold an edition of seventy-two thousand copies.

THE INDIAN RESERVATION.—We learn from the Deputy Indian Agent that some six hundred Indians, mostly from Shasta county, arrived at the Reservation on Thom Creek, Colusa county, last week.

THE YREKA FIRE.—The Mountain Herald gives
