

THE HUMBOLDT TIMES.

UNION, CALIFORNIA, SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 22, 1855.

HON. J. W. DENVER.—Gen. Denver, Secretary of State and member of Congress elect from California, arrived here on the Sea Bird on Saturday and returned again with her. The duties of his office unfortunately precluded his prolonging his stay with us. The General was on a tour of observation prior to his leaving for Washington, examining into the wants and necessities of this section of country. This place was his "old stamping ground" from whence he formerly packed goods into the mines. Here he met his old companions and friends, the latter of whom number all who know him—from whom he received a cordial and hearty melcome, not the hypocritical welcome too often extended to the member of congress, the successful aspirant, but such as is received by an honest man from the hands of the masses who have worked with him and know him. His future success and welfare is the constant wish of his friends here. Through him are our people expecting to obtain rights which have so long been withheld from them.
