ROGUE RIVER INDIANS.—The Yreka Union gives another version relative to the Indian disturbances on Rogue River, furnished by Capt Thos Smith, one of the first settlers of Rogue River Valley :

The Captain was one of the men engaged in the fight. He says that on the evening of Thursday, 30th August, three men went out deer hunting on the emigrant trail about six miles above the settlement, at the head of the valley, where they camped.— During the night a horse belonging to one of the party was taken from the camp, and was heard going towards the Indian Rancharea, about a mile and a half distant.— Early next morning they proceeded towards the Rancharea, in search of the horse, and upon arriving within a short distance of the Indian camp, discovered that the Indians were too numerous to meddle with, and returned to the settlement. On Saturday morning following, on information being given of the circumstance, they raised a company of sixteen men, and started out for the purpose of recovering the animal if possible. Upon arriving within a short distance of the Indian camp, they halted to consult, when a shot was fired at them from the brush, which fortunately did no damage. They rushed into the camp, when the Indians retreated into the brush, and fired upon them, killing Mr Keenc, of Tennessee, and severely wounding John Q. Maber and Fred Alberding, and the party were compelled to return with them to the settlements. The Captain could not tell positively whether any Indians were killed or not. On the following morning the Captain with a party, brought in the body of Keene, which they found shockingly mutilated.— On their return, they met 40 U. S. troops under the command of Lieut Switzer. At the request of Switzer, Smith returned the next day, to aid the troops in chastising the Indians, but met the troops returning, who stated that they had seen no Indian sign, and the Lieutenant considered it useless to continue further. Captain Smith urged the Lieutenant to return, or even to detail a portion of the troops to accompany him, but the Lieutenant declined doing either, and the volunteers being too few to cope with the Indians, were compelled to return. The Captain thinks that these Indians are the same engaged in the Klamath butchery.

A GOOD REASON.—The Humboldt Times, in attempting to apologise for the tremendous defeat of Bigler, in that county, he only receiving seventy-seven votes, says :

“There was no organization among the Democrats, the Chairman of the County Committee and most of the old line Democrats have gone over to the Know Nothings. Another year there will be efforts made to re-organize the Democrats, if a sufficient number can be obtained, upon whom confidence can be placed. The nomination of John Bigler has done more to destroy the prestige of the party in this county than every other cause combined.”

LARGE POTATOES.—The editor of the Monterey Sentinel chronicles potatoes grown in that county, of this year's planting, which weigh from 2½ to 3½ pounds. The crop is now being gathered and shipped to market.

COUNTRY THEATRICALS—According to the Calaveras Chronicle, Mrs. Sinclair, Mrs Voorhes and Mr. Sedley, have been giving entertainments of a theatrical character to crowded houses at Jackson, Campo Seco and San Andreas du-
