

CHEVALIER WYKOFF, AGAIN.—Private letters from London, the Tribune says, state that Chivalier Wykoff, of whose strange love adventures the public have been apprised, had reappeared in that city in company with Miss Gamble, (at whose instigation he was locked up at Genoa, he believe,) and the story now is that the pair are such warm friends that their marriage is looked for at any moment; in fact, that their intention of marriage has been publicly avowed by them.

SCOTTS BAR.—We are informed that some men employed by Mr. Whelock, to work in his claim, the other morning, while he was yet in bed, took out $500. Pretty good. We would like to have such a claim, paying us a hundred dollars an hour, while we were “snoozeing” in the morning. We would “snooze” on a while, as old “Rip Van Winkle” did, in fact we would not care whether we awoke at all or not.—Mountain Herald.

We are informed that the two companies 1st Dragoons, under the command of Lieut. Radford, will leave Fort James, Scott Valley, for Tula and Goose Lakes, on the emigrant road between this and the Humboldt river, to protect the emigrants on the wo haw navigation, from the depredations of the Indians on that part of the route.—Mountain Herald.

GEN. HARRISON'S REMAINS.—It is proposed to remove the remains of General Harrison, which are now entombed at North Bend, to the battlefield of Tippecanoe, there to slumber with those of the intrepid Col. Joe Davis and their compatriots.

MAZZINI.—Mazzini was at last accounts safe in London, where it was said there were at least 100,000 refugees. Mazzini.
