

the Mix's Franklin House. This hotel is situated in the town of Franklin, on Whisky Creek, about six miles from this place. We recommend this establishment to all persons, who would run athwart the hawse of "a gentleman, a scholar, and a d——l of a fine fellow."—What'll we take? Now that's sensible, Mix—give us some "brandy-straight"-way.

INDIAN BATTLE.—The Marysville Express states that there was a fight between the Indians at the Empire Ranch, a few days since. They were drawn up on a plain, in regular battle array, the chiefs mounted, and all the rules of war observed. Some three or four hundred were engaged in the fight. There were three killed and seventeen wounded, when victory perched on the banners of one of the parties, who remained on the battle field, built fires, sang, danced, and evinced many other signs of joy over their triumph. The weapons chiefly used were bows and arrows, but there were a few guns brought into requisition.

NEW DAILY PAPER.—The Marysville Express is now issued daily, instead of tri-weekly as heretofore. We congratulate the very able conductors of this sprightly sheet, upon this evidence of success. There is nothing so gratifying to an editor as to gain the approval of the community in the shape of a liberal patronage.

BAGLEY'S WHEREABOUTS.—We are informed by a gentleman of this place, that the far famed Bagley, whose supposed discovery of rich diggings in this section created such a tremendous excitement some months since, has at last turned up in Mariposa county, where for months past he has been mining.
