From Yreka.

We are indebted to Mr. Raynes, of Cram, Rogers & Co's Express, for the Mountain Herald of the 3d.

We find but little local news.

A paper is being circulated in Yreka, by Mr. John Lintell, the Postmaster, for the purpose of raising adequate funds to have a semi-monthly mail carried through from this place to Yreka, during several of the winter months. We are under the impression that Rhodes & Lusk and Cram, Rogers & Co. will perform this service during the winter months to the perfect satisfaction of all concerned, as they have done heretofore. We have every confidence that the people of Siskiyou will be properly cared for next spring by the department. We cannot conceive that such gross neglect of any portion of our people will continue much longer.

The Herald learns that the two Indians who were prisoners at Fort Lane, for killing Mr. Kyle, escaped on the 29th ult.

The Indians on Applegate Creek are exceedingly troublesome; they are constantly stealing stock from the settlers, as well as from those on Cottonwood. Messrs. Cram, Rogers & Co. and M. B. Morris have had several fine horses stolen by these "red devils," which have been recovered from them by R. B. Metcalf, Esq., the well known and popular mountain guide in the late Indian war. A petition is in circulation and being universally signed by the citizens of this county, asking congress to appoint him Special Indian Agent for Southern Oregon. From his thorough knowledge of the Indian character, and of the country which they inhabit, together with his influence with the several tribes who infest this valley, as well as that of Shasta, he would no doubt make an efficient officer.— lb.
