

Shasta Courier, Volume 3, Number 1, 11 March 1854 — liicii ol Menu. [ARTICLE]

Back

Lack of News.

Our latest dates from below are from San Francisco of the 4th, and Sacramento of the 5th inst.

We are therefore unable to give anything relative to the action of the Legislature upon the Senatorial question. A gentleman who was present last Saturday night, at the meeting in Sacramento, called by those favoring the election this winter, informs us, so great was the feeling in opposition to the iniquitous scheme, that it was impossible for the speakers to obtain a hearing in its advocacy. Judge Rallston opposed it in a very masterly effort, and was the only man that was listened to with any sort of respect. The resolutions were read amid a perfect storm of groans and hisses, but were not put to vote. Billy Mulligan and some twenty or thirty more shoulder strikers from San Francisco were present, and stood near the platform, ready to do the voting, cheering, &c. So great was the opposition, however, that those individuals kept themselves perfectly quiet. This was the the meeting that the Alta predicted would have a telling effect.

MOVEMENT OF TROOPS.—Capt. Judah passed through this place a few days since, with about seventy-five soldiers, for Fort Jones, in Scott Valley. We presume they will not be permitted long to remain idle, after their arrival. We trust that Capt. Judah, with these additional troops, has been empowered to fight the Indians on the Klamath after his own fashion, free from all control on the part of any officer from Fort Lane. If he has been thus empowered, we may soon expect for once to hear, if the impending war does break forth, of some good resulting from the interference of U. S. Troops in the difficulties existing between the citizens and Indians of that portion of the country. The citizens have the utmost confidence in his bravery and skill, and volunteers will take pride in placing themselves under his command. Those citizens who are the better acquainted with the Indian character, know from ample experience, that it is worse than suicidal, to attack a party of hostile Indians, and then leave them in quiet possession of the ground or stronghold from which they were sought to be routed; and they have the satisfaction of knowing that in this respect Capt. Judah agrees with them in toto.— Hence our confidence, and hence the confidence of the citizens generally, in Capt. Judah as a leader, should the threatened war be realized.

This article has been automatically clipped from the Shasta Courier 11 March 1854, organised into a single column, then optimised for display on your computer screen. As a result, it may not look exactly as it did on the original page. The article can be seen in its original form in the page view.