

often compel persons of slender means to return home, and on their arrival at the Bay they find passage advanced beyond their means.

MILITARY.—A number of our spirited young men propose to organize a Military company in town to form a part of the Militia of the State. The roll is now open at the Monte Cristo Saloon, and it already numbers thirty-five members. A meeting will be held on Sunday evening, in the room over the Empire Saloon, where the members will please attend at an early hour. All inspired with the martial spirit or having any ambition "to do the State some service," will do well to take a chance for promotion. Here is an opportunity of gaining a military title without the inconvenience of having ones shins barked by grape-shot, or submitting to any unpleasant operation by a bone sawyer.

AN INSIDIOUS POISON.—"Mrs. Smith, I am persuaded that tea is a slow poison: I have been using it for eighty-four years and I feel that it is gradually undermining my constitution."
